Military Research Fund Cut Rescinded

New Defense Boss Erases Wilson Order

Nation's Satellite, Missile Programs Given Shot In Arm

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The new secretary of defense tonight told the armed services to make no reduction in the proposed spending of $1.7 billion on basic research.

The action by Secretary Neil McElroy was taken against a background of criticism of an Aug. 17 economy order by former Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The criticism, much of it from Democrats in Congress and scientists and organizations active in basic research, grew sharp following the Russian success with the Sputnik earth satellite.

McElroy ordered the Army, Navy and Air Force to restore their basic research levels "within the over-all resources currently available."

Wilson Ordered 10% Cut
Congress voted the $1.7 billion for basic research spending in the fiscal year which began last July 1.

Wilson's Aug. 17 order directed the services to cut their spending by an amount equal to 10 per cent of the money for basic research.

Pentagon spokesmen said Wilson intended that the savings come not out of the $1.7 billion but out of $3.60 billion set aside for procurement and production in the research and development field. The order was interpreted variously by the services but in the end the effect was a cut in the basic research fund.

Missile Has Radar Eye
Earlier today, two more important missile developments were disclosed:

1. The Army said its new Hawk missile, designed to shoot down low-flying planes, has a radar eye which ignores things that stand still, but speeds the missile toward a target moving in the air.
2. The Matador guided missile, hitherto a one-shot weapon, was disclosed to have been modified so that it can be recovered by parachute and refired in training and test workouts. This is an Air Force missile.

Syrians Fear Attack During NATO Exercise

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Syrian foreign ministry expressed belief today Turkey may attack Syria during NATO exercises of U.S., British and Turkish forces scheduled to start Thursday. It warned other NATO nations not to be tricked into it.

The foreign ministry statements were sent to NATO members in notes saying Turkey might attack in the belief she will get NATO support and protection during "possible aggressive operations."

If this happens, the notes said, NATO forces would be "a tool to facilitate the aggression." The Syrian notes expressed the belief NATO powers "do not approve or accept this."

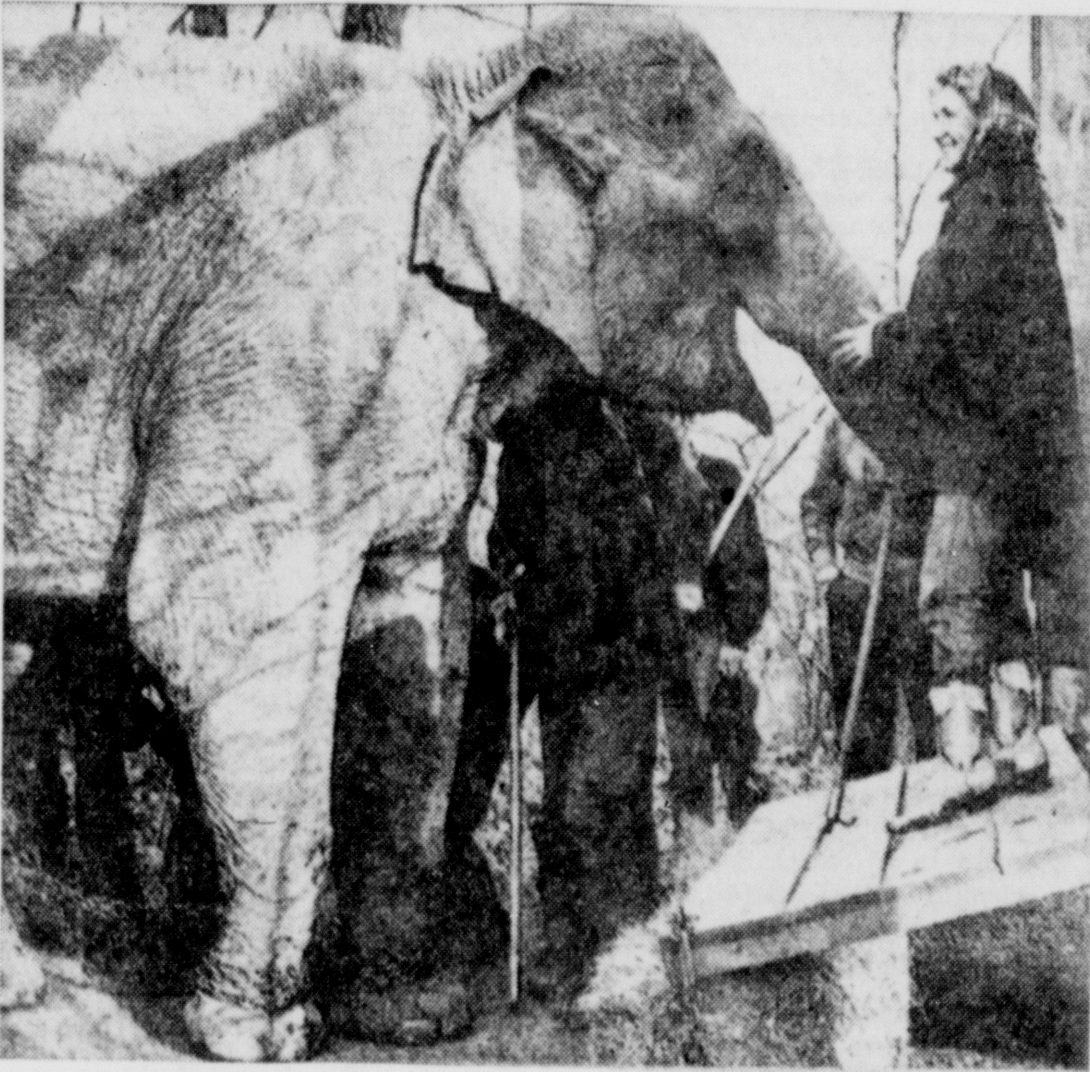

Syria and Russia have previously charged Turkey with planning an aggression after Turkish parliamentary elections. Those elections were held yesterday.

A NATO announcement Saturday from Izmir, Turkey, said the U.S., British and Turkish forces would engage in maneuvers for three days beginning Oct. 31 along the southwestern Turkish coast.

The Syrian warning came after Syria and the Soviet Union formalized an economic and technical cooperation agreement.

Deputies Turn Down Mollet's Bid To Head French Government

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 29 (AP)—The National Assembly early today turned down Socialist Guy Mollet's bid to head a new French government.

The official count showed the former Premier was rejected by a vote of 290-227.

Assembly members turned a deaf ear to Mollet's plea that the nation urgently needs a government to face its mounting problems. He was the fourth to try forming a cabinet since the government of Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury fell four weeks ago.

Mollet's defeat was presaged last night when the Independent Republicans and Peasants, controlling 99 of the vote Mollet was counting on to give him a total of about 270, decided to vote against him. At a party caucus, 83 deputies went on record against Mollet while only three were for him.

This was repayment for the Socialists refusal last week to support the Independents' Antoine Pinay for the premiership.

Mollet, who holds the postwar record for longevity in the Premier's chair with 15 months of service, had sought to form France's 24th government since World War II. His defeat throws the problem of finding a Premier back to President Rene Coty.

Appealing for Assembly endorsement, Mollet told the deputies both the state and private citizens must impose on themselves the "strictest and most rigorous discipline."

Knight Stays In Race

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Gov. Knight today rejected proposals he drop out of the race for governor and pledged himself to wage a "crusading campaign" against Sen. William F. Knowland in California's Republican primary next year.

Baltimore Group Claims Gravity-Power Machine

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—A group of Baltimoreans claimed today they have been able to utilize gravity in circular motion machines capable of powering everything from hearing aids to space cruisers.

Otis T. Carr first announced his claim at a news conference called by OTC Enterprises, Inc., of which he is president. He further detailed his claims today in an interview and demonstration of a crude model of a circular motion machine which he said is the principle of a "free energy circular foil" space craft he can build, if someone puts up the money.

He said the machine can be adapted to devices of any size to produce continuous power absolutely free of dissipation.

Its immediate application, Carr said, would be in a space craft—either manned or remote controlled—which would be able to hedgehog among the planets in orous discipline." He said his first duty would be to halt inflation and the falling value of the franc. As part of this program, Mollet said it would be necessary to "consider recourse to foreign loans, in appealing to the solidarity of our Atlantic and European allies."

He said a new bond issue would have to be floated in France, new advances asked from the Bank of France, new taxes voted by the Assembly and government spending curtailed sharply.

Norstad Says NATO Would Defend Turkey

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said today it would "respond forcefully and effectively" to aggression against any member.

This statement, by Gen. Lauris Norstad, was in reply to newsmen's questions as to how NATO would react to Soviet aggression against Turkey.

Norstad, a U.S. Air Force general whose NATO headquarters are in Paris, conferred with President Eisenhower during a one-day visit to Washington.

In saying NATO would respond with force to aggression against any member, Norstad noted that the NATO treaty sets forth that an attack against one member is an attack against all.

NATO members are Denmark, the United Kingdom, the United States, Norway, Luxembourg, West Germany, France, Portugal, Greece, Italy, Turkey, the Netherlands, Belgium, Canada and

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—James R. Donoghue, a Sears Roebuck & Co. employee, testified today he allowed the tires on his car to be punctured and his windshield smashed to discredit the Retail Clerks Union in the Boston area.

He told a special Senate inquiry group that the wrecking job took place on a parking lot across the street from a Sears Roebuck & Co. store just before the store's employees were to vote on representation by the Clerks Union.

The Clerks lost their organizational fight. The drive took place in 1953 and is now being investigated by a Senate committee assigned to look into allegedly improper labor-management relations.

It was not brought out who had suggested damaging Donoghue's car.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he would not attempt to pin the blame on anyone but that he would ask Donoghue whether he had discussed the "wrecking" with John Lind, identified as an organizer for the Laundry Workers, Kennedy said the Laundry Workers were representing the Teamsters Union in a jurisdictional fight with the Clerks over organizing Sears stores in the Boston area.

Donoghue, a Sears employee who lives in West Newton, Mass., agreed that he had talked with Lind. Asked whether he had received any money from Lind or anyone else for influencing people in favor of the Teamsters rather than the Clerks, he said he received $125.

Donoghue replied "yes" when asked whether Lind had arranged his transfer to a better job.

The committee shifted away from the Sears case briefly to question Raymond Cohen, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 107 in Philadelphia.

Cohen refused to tell the investigators how he acquired $41,000 worth of yachts while serving as Teamsters official.

Greek Cypriots Clash With British Troops

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Oct. 28 (AP)—Thousands of young Greek Cypriots clashed with British troops today after defying a ban against celebrating a Greek national holiday.

Authorities brought clubs and tear gas into play to break up the demonstrations, but no serious injuries were reported. The disturbances occurred in Nicosia, Famagusta, Larnaca, Limassol and Paphos.

U.S. Rejects Soviet Arms Talk Proposal

"Little Assembly" Plan Seen Move To Scrap Negotiations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that disarmament talks be switched from big power secret meetings to a public 82-nation "Little Assembly."

In a surprise move, the Soviet Union urged the abolishment of the U.N.'s 12-nation disarmament commission and its 5-nation subcommittee, which has been carrying on private talks since 1954.

The United States rejected the Russian proposal as impractical. A U.S. spokesman said, "it appears to indicate an unwillingness to negotiate. It casts doubt on their intentions with regard to any disarmament agreement."

The Western powers believe that secret meetings keep debate from turning into a propaganda battle.

Midwest Support Expected

The Soviet proposal calls for the establishment of a permanent disarmament commission composed of all U.N. member nations. The commission would examine "all proposals on disarmament submitted to the United Nations" and would make recommendations to the General Assembly.

Some diplomats expected the Soviet plan to win support from the Middle East and neutral Asia. India, Japan and others have proposed increasing the membership of the commission and its subcommittee.

Talks Would Be Open
A Soviet memo explained that broader talks were necessary because the commission and subcommittee failed to advance any agreement.

The Russians stated that an 82-nation commission would "focus the attention of the peoples on the disarmament problem and . . . keep them fully informed on progress in the negotiations and on the attitude adopted by various powers."

British Charge Russia Seeks To Rule Arabs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Britain accused the Soviet Union today of trying to dominate the Arab world "by every mischievous and dangerous means short of war."

It urged the U.N. to remain calm in the face of "this whole Soviet hullabaloo."

Britain, Turkey and other Baghdad Pact members replied in the 82-nation U.N. General Assembly to Soviet-Syrian charges that Turkey is about to launch war in the Middle East.

Amid the third round of bitter Middle East debate, Communist Yugoslavia's Joza Brilej called upon the big powers to stop exchanging threats over the Middle East crisis. "A chain reaction appears to have been generated which may well carry us further than the worst protagonist may wish," he declared.

Turkey proclaimed its determination to remain in the Baghdad Pact and NATO alliances, and described as "fantastic" accusations by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that the United States is encouraging Turkey to attack Syria.

Cmdr. Allan Noble, British minister of state for foreign affairs, told the Assembly the Soviet Union wants to shake Turkey's adherence to NATO and the Baghdad Pact, and to dominate the Arab world.

"If Arabs could really be brought to believe that Syria was menaced by invasion from Turkey, and had been saved by this menace by Soviet intervention, great benefits would accrue to the Soviet Union, and the position of the Arab friends of Turkey and the Western world would be gravely shaken," Noble declared.

State Dept. Rebukes Aide Who Accepted Gift Car From Saud

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The State Department ruled today that a protocol aide, Victor Purse, exercised "bad judgment" in accepting a gift automobile from King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

The department made this statement about an hour after it acknowledged that Secretary Dulles had accepted a wrist watch, an Arabian robe and a suitcase from Saud, after the Middle East monarch made a visit to Washington last February.

Officials said Dulles turned the gifts he received over to the protocol division. They refused to say whether the secretary ever got them back for his personal use.

The department said Purse is "being temporarily reassigned pending further consideration." Purse will leave his job as deputy chief of protocol to undertake "administrative work in the Department's bureau of international organization affairs," it said.

The announcement said that Purse's transfer "was not related directly to the acceptance by his wife of an automobile as a gift."

It added: "The Department feels, however, that his failure to consult and inform his superiors in the Department regarding the gift was an exercise of bad judgment on his part."

It said Purse accepted the car, a 1957 Oldsmobile, as a gift to his

Ike And Mamie May Pay Visit To London

LONDON, Tuesday, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to come to London with Mrs. Eisenhower for a return visit to Queen Elizabeth II in December, diplomatic sources said today.

The President may come to London en route to the NATO meeting in Paris in mid-December, these sources said, and the announcement of the visit is being delayed for purely formal reasons.

Anastasia's Bodyguard Held As Material Witness

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Albert Anastasia's bodyguard, Anthony Coppola, was held in $50,000 bail today as a material witness in the gangster's assassination. The district attorney's office said Coppola's life is in danger, too.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman told General Sessions Judge Abraham N. Geller, who ordered Coppola held: "If this man walks out, it may very well be the beginning of open warfare by the hoodlums in this city."

Coppola was strangely absent last Friday morning when two masked gunmen waylaid Anastasia and shot him to death as he relaxed in a barber chair in the Hotel Park Sheraton.

"There's nothing on earth I fear," remonstrated Coppola, 49, "I was just a friend of his. . . I haven't an enemy in the world,

Ouster From Ruling Body Is Indicated

Moscow Dispatch Details Charges Against War Hero

LONDON, Tuesday, Oct. 29 (AP)—Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Russia's hero of Berlin, seemed headed today for political oblivion.

Reports reaching here from Moscow indicated he has been fired from the ruling Presidium of the Soviet Communist party and is facing official disgrace. These reports were bolstered by a dispatch from Moscow to London's Communist Daily Worker, detailing the sins with which Zhukov seems to be charged.

The basic charge against Zhukov, fired Saturday as Soviet defense minister and head of all the armed forces, is that he hindered the work of the Communist party's organization among the military, the Worker's dispatch said. Zhukov is known to have opposed bitterly the system of political commissars in the army. He considered them to be interfering with the Army's authority while they served as spies and whiplashes for the Communist party.

Drama Nears Climax

Moscow remained silent, as it had for two full days, on the reasons for Zhukov's abrupt dismissal, which coincided with his return from an official trip to Yugoslavia and Albania. But diplomatic circles in the Soviet capital buzzed with anticipation. Something dramatic seemed in the air. Some sources there connected the developing drama with the Middle East crisis, hinting Zhukov may have opposed a gambling policy there by Soviet Communist Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev.

If the London Daily Worker is correct—and the wording of the dispatch suggests its information came from some official source—Khrushchev has won in a showdown with Zhukov.

The Worker said the Communist Party Central Committee was in special session all day yesterday to decide whether Zhukov should remain on the Presidium of the party. It said the issue was serious.

"It seems," said the Worker, "that the basic case against Marshal Zhukov is that in his position as minister of defense he hindered the work of Communist party organizations in the armed forces of the U.S.S.R."

Army Leaders Complain

The Worker's Moscow reporter, who would have access to sources not available to other Western correspondents, said long before the purge of other leading members of the party hierarchy last summer there had been complaints from army leaders on Zhukov's attitude toward the party's work in army ranks. It said he kept political workers from having access to the Central Committee itself.

After Zhukov was made a full member of the party Presidium last June, the dispatch continued, "It was found that even greater difficulties were being placed in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Supreme Court Rebuffs Sobell

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Morton Sobell, convicted with Ethel and Julius Rosenberg of atomic espionage, got still another setback from the Supreme Court today in his legal fight to get out of prison.

The court rejected without comment a petition asking that it reverse itself and grant Sobell a review of his conviction.

It was the seventh time the court has turned down applications of one sort or another in Sobell's behalf, each time leaving the conviction undisturbed.

Sobell, now 38, is serving a 30-year sentence in Alcatraz. The Rosenbergs were executed in June 1953.

Sobell's latest request for a Supreme Court hearing was hitched to the cross-examination of Mrs. Rosenberg when she testified in her own behalf in U.S. District Court in New York.

Mrs. Rosenberg, in her direct testimony, denied involvement in the conspiracy to feed atomic secrets to Russia.

In cross-examining her, government prosecutors brought out that she had claimed the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination before the grand jury which indicted her, to the same questions she answered in her direct testimony.

Sobell, who did not take the witness stand, contended in his latest appeal that this cross-examination had an adverse effect upon him and caused the trial to lack "essential fairness."

Army Generals Rap Air Force Doctrine, Missile Role Curbs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The convention. These developments included:

1. The substitution of an originally prepared speech by Lt. Gen. Stanley R. Mickelsen, head of the Army's Air Defense Command, which said "interceptor aircraft are obsolescent," that the Army's current model of the Nike anti-aircraft missile "can reach and kill any bomber that flies today" and that "the Army points the way for America to shed herself of any stigma of the Douhet theory of mass destruction of civilian populations."

2. Gen. Willard G. Wyman, chief of the Continental Army Command, said in his prepared speech "I consider it dangerous to fetter our development now with arbitrary range limitations and rigid definitions of the future battle area which an enemy may choose to ignore."

He was talking about the need for long range support of ground forces with guided missile batteries capable of using either atomic or conventional ammunition.

An attempt by the Defense Department to soft-pedal the rivalry appeared to be behind some of the

Sweeping Visit Swapping Plan Aired By Russia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Russia today proposed a sweeping agreement with the United States to stimulate cultural-scientific exchanges, including direct U.S.-Soviet air service.

The broad-ranging plan covered 32 exchanges of persons projects. It carefully veered away from cold war politics.

The Soviet proposals were laid down by Ambassador Georgi Zarubin at the opening of negotiations at the State Department. The second meeting, to consider these along with American suggestions, will be held next Monday.

William S. B. Lacy, special assistant to Secretary Dulles, headed the American delegation. Lacy contented himself with a brief opening statement, mostly chiding Russia for blocking more liberal U.S.-Soviet exchanges. He said he would offer U.S. proposals "presently."

Lacy and Zarubin agreed that their aim, as Zarubin put it in his remarks, was to "help to create an atmosphere of confidence and mutual understanding between our countries."

Lacy called for "free discussion, criticism and debate," and declared:

"The reputation of Americans and Russians for friendliness and hospitality is well known."

The Soviet proposal, among other things, called for swapping visits by members of the American Congress and the Supreme Soviet of the Soviet Union.

The Soviet proposal was based on reciprocity. It called for visits by experts in industry, agriculture, science, the arts, trade unions, radio - television, education, trade, sports and news reporting.

Losers In Turkish Election Cry Foul

ISTANBUL, Oct. 28 (AP)—Opponents of Premier Adnan Menderes cried foul tonight after the thumping victory of his Democrat party in Turkey's national election.

The unofficial but final count showed the Democrats won 432 seats of the new 610-seat Parliament in the voting Sunday, outdrawing their opponents in 47 of the nation's 67 provinces.

Menderes' leading rival, ex-President Ismet Inonu of the People's Republican party, told a news conference the Republicans are lodging official complaints in each of the 47 provinces they lost.

Inonu, 73, said the Democrats used police to interfere with voting, announced their victories over the state radio while voting was still going on and packed registration lists.

"Under these conditions, I wonder which party really won and which really lost," Inonu said.

TV Stars Take Unplanned Fall

Unfortunately, it also had no back, and the performers were unaware of the switch. No one was hurt.

Man Borrows Million To Play Stock Market

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28 (AP)—Studios Ralph B. Hatz borrowed over a million dollars in the last 20 years to invest in the stock market, and he avoided financial difficulty until the last year.

Hatz said he persuaded friends and neighbors to lend him money in return for a signed note and a promise to pay monthly interest. He said the interest rates ranged from 1 1/2 to 5 per cent.

Several of Hatz's creditors took action in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court last week to have him declared insolvent. Atty. Harry S. Kelson said Hatz has some funds, but not enough to meet his obligations.

The attorney said: "I think he has paid back something like $700,000 but still owes about $300,000."

Kelson said Hatz got into difficulty about a year ago because of a stock market decline. Hatz, however, told newsmen:

"It was not the stock market decline — it was just that three people didn't have faith in me anymore."

Hatz did not identify the three persons, but said they wanted their money back immediately. "I couldn't do it," Hatz said. "It was like a run on a bank."

Kelson said stocks that Hatz held were "worth $250,000 or $300,000 about 12 months ago. Now they are worth about $65,000."

The stocks now are in the hands of a receiver. Kelson said his client isn't opposing the legal move.

Judge Henry Ellenbogen asked the alleged creditors last Friday if they wanted the receiver to liquidate the securities or keep them. They voted in favor of keeping the stocks in the hope they will rise in value.

Ouster From

the way of Communist party organizations in the army" while Zhukov boosted his own stock. Therefore, it added, the head of the army's political department appealed to the Central Committee and the Presidium concerning this attitude.

All this made the developments seem like the result of a struggle by the party to assert its supremacy over the armed forces.

Censorship blocked correspondents' efforts to file any hard news from Moscow. It appeared to be the most thorough censorship invoked since the Stalin era.

It was considered possible Khrushchev was repeating his performance of last year, when he summoned the full party Central Committee to confirm the purge of Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and V. M. Molotov from their party and government posts. Khrushchev apparently had been outvoted in the party's ruling Presidium—then a nine-member Politburo—but a hasty meeting of the Central Committee backed him and turned the tide against those accused of being part of an "anti-party group."

'Chutes Permit Recovery Of Huge Matador Missile

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Martin Co. announced today a new version of the Matador guided missile which permits its recovery by parachute for training and test purposes.

Until now, the TM78 Matador has been a one-shot weapon. Each missile launched, plunged to destruction at the end of its jet-powered flight.

With the modifications announced today, the Matador can be recovered and reused.

This means that troops may be given much more intensive training in the launching sequence and the cost will be significantly less, the announcement said.

In addition, when the Matador is used as a test vehicle for expensive guidance systems and there is a malfunction, the missiles can be brought back for direct examination.

When used as a target drone for other missiles such as the Falcon, the Matador can be recovered if no hits are scored.

Martin said the section of the missile containing the warhead is replaced by a recovery kit. It in turn can be replaced with the warhead, making the missile completely operational again in a short time.

The Matador, first ground-to-ground missile assigned to U.S. troops, stationed overseas, weighs 10,000 pounds and is as big as a jet fighter plane.

It is controlled in recoverable flight by an "MSQ radar command system" operated by a ground pilot who "flies" the missile by use of a small control stick.

When it is desired to bring the Matador down, the "beeper pilot" hits the No. 1 recovery button on his control box. Three things happen in quick succession: (1) The engine of the Matador—flying at 40,000 feet or better—throttles back to 60 per cent power. (2) A "drag" chute streams out about forty feet behind the tail to help brake the Matador's speed, and (3) the controls are positioned to bring the missile down to 2,500 feet altitude.

Once he has the missile at the lower altitude and the desired slower speed, the ground pilot pressed the second recovery button and three 100-foot cargo parachutes are deployed. Large air bags of rubberized fabric cushion the landing.

The Great Pyramid in Egypt contains about 87 million cubic feet of stone.

Narcotics Offender's Sentence Reduced

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—A Baltimore man today won a reduction of at least five years in a prison sentence imposed on him as a third offender of the narcotics law.

The Court of Appeals ruled that under the wording of indictments against William E. Beard he could only be sentenced as a second offender.

Beard has served five years in the State Penitentiary on a 15-year sentence. The maximum penalty for a second narcotics violation is a $2,000 fine and imprisonment for 10 years.

The appellate judges sent the case back to Baltimore Criminal Court for a new judgment and sentence in accordance with its opinion.

Doctor's Prescription For One Patient Only —
Not For Just Anybody!

COMPLAINTS WE HEAR

You could buy a prescribed drug over the counter more cheaply if the doctor would only tell you the name of it. In general, drugs of greatest potency are restricted to prescription sales for the protection of patient and public against misuse. Yet many valuable drugs can be bought over the counter and a physician often does tell a patient to do so. A prescribed drug, however, regardless of ingredients, is importantly different from drugs for the general public. The physician assumes professional responsibility when he signs a prescription. He gives important "how to take" directions, specifies exact dosage and combinations of ingredients, for ONE PARTICULAR PATIENT, not for just anybody. The pharmacist puts directions on the label and assumes responsibility that the medicine is exactly what the doctor ordered and that it can be safely taken in the dosage specified. A prescription includes important professional services in addition to the drug, all of which are designed to protect the patient.

Nevertheless, when you have your prescription filled at Walsh-McCagh, you don't pay anything extra for these services in most cases. Unless there is something extra added to your prescription, the price is the same at Walsh-McCagh whether you ask for the drug by name or bring in a prescription for it. We invite you to test us and see. This is just one more reason why you'll find Walsh-McCagh a friendly place to do business and why we maintain our position as Maryland's Leading Prescription Store.

Baltimore Tax On Advertising Believed Legal

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (P)—Deputy City Solicitor Hugo A. Ricciuti opined today that a Baltimore tax on advertising is legal.

The tax on advertising is one of several proposed by the budget director to pay for recommended increases in spending of $17,564,991 next year.

Other proposals are to tax hotel rooms and increase the fees on property, cigarets and vending permits.

Ricciuti said his law office is drawing up two forms of ordinances to tax advertising and that it will be permissible to impose both. The choice of either or both is first up to the Board of Estimates and then the City Council.

The solicitor said one form of the levy could be in the nature of a sales tax with the advertising medium collecting it and the advertiser paying for it. The other would be a tax on the gross receipts of an advertising business.

The tax would apply to billboards, radio, television, newspaper and magazine paid advertising.

The amount of the tax would be up to the city's discretion, according to Ricciuti. In the case of the similar sales tax, it would not have to be bound to the state rate of 2 per cent, he said.

A state tax on advertising has been introduced at several recent legislatures without getting out of committee.

Secrets Of Charm

How Do You Bend?

A young grandmother writes: "Last week I stooped over to pick up some toys from the floor and couldn't get back up to standing position. I suffered for days! My husband said I should sort of sit when I lift up some object, but always bend from the waist and try to keep my knees straight. Who is right?"

Muscular strain can give you excruciating pain and I am glad you had this discussion with your husband who suggested you write us. We can prevent a repetition of such unpleasantness and can help others with your painful experience.

A Sort Of Sit

The trick is to use your body as Nature planned you should and apply the rules of good posture to whatever you do, tirelessness and whatever you do. If you do, tirelessness and grace will attend you instead of pain, fatigue and awkwardness. Be sure to remember this each time you start to stoop or retrieve an object. The natural and logical way to take the stoop out of stooping is to stand with the feet a pace apart with the weight on the balls of the feet. Stand to the side of the object on the floor. Now bend the knees and sort of sit until you can easily grasp what you wish to pick up, then rise v e r y slowly. The important thing, also, is to remember to keep the back and head erect throughout this entire motion.

Whether you're working around the house or at the office, the above technique will prevent backaches and that "get-a-derick" effect. Just watch someone that plops over from the waist and see what a ludicrous spectacle they make of themselves. And, if they get a crook in their back, that's far from funny.

Thruway Plan Discussed At City Council Meeting

What started out as a discussion of an open-ditch and sewer condition in the Oldtown Road Wempe drive area, exploded into verbal opposition to the Cumberland Thruway (cross-town bridge) at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Eugene Martin, 25 Wempe Drive, asked the status of a $500,000 urban development bond issue which is to go to a referendum here and said some members of council had told him this issue would take care of the sewer-open ditch condition in his neighborhood while others said it would not.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said a bond issue certainly would take care of the problem but pointed out that the $500,000 urban development issue is earmarked for the Thruway.

He said it is questionable at this time whether the city could float a suggested $600,000 general improvement bond issue without jeopardizing chances of the $500,000 issue which should have preference.

The city plans to pay its contract construction obligation of $190,000 to the state for the Thruway from the $500,000 issue, it was said.

Martin asked if the bond issue is defeated, how the city plans to pay the Thruway cost. Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz in an aside said "out of Street Department funds." Gibson told Martin money would have to come from state gasoline tax funds.

Martin then asked what the city was going to do at the end of the fiscal year when it does not get another $50,000 such as the amount paid the city by the B&O for closing the Williams Street crossing.

Gibson said "That is a good question."

Termed General Issue
Mayor Ray W. Eves later said the proceeds of the bond issue, introduced as the Cumberland Urban Development Bonds of 1957, were not dedicated primarily to the Thruway.

He said the bond ordinance is written so net proceeds may be used for acquiring property, construction of streets, public ways, bridges and appurtenances and such items as widening and repairing streets, and to meet obligations involving federal and state agencies requiring contributions, including the Cumberland thruway.

He said the obligations for the Thruway come due over a seven-year period, and that money would have to remain idle if the issue were dedicated to that specific purpose, and a second bond issue sold to meet other civic obligations.

The plan to make the issue general, he explained, was adopted so the city would not have to pass two issues at the same time.

Buchholtz, replying to a Martin claim that the city should look to the future, said his proposal for the $600,000 general improvement bond issue certainly was looking to the future.

When it was pointed out by Gibson that the city had been fortunate in keeping flood control costs at the point it has despite rising costs, but that the Thruway contract limits expenditures to $70,000 for seven years or a total of $490,000, James Alfred Avirett, local attorney and chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, joined in the discussion.

"Plus all other costs involve such as removal of water power lines, construction of connecting links and maintenance," he said, adding "there's another million dollars involved."

Avirett said the cost to the city for the Thruway will not be $490,000 but $1,490,000 and we should call a halt to this thing while we can still save the town."

Avirett contended that the grade of the bridge will be detrimental to trucks and that traffic can be routed around the city "at half the cost."

"It is time to halt this folly," Avirett claimed and said he had talked to engineers who said the plan is "sheer madness."

Avirett further stated that "The town is being destroyed because of a 35-year-old plan" when he said traffic could be directed around the city a small part of the Thruway cost. He said ample time remains to change the plan.

"Artin raised the question of property involved in the Thruway and the fact it is being taken off the tax books."

And Avirett said each time the Thruway route is surveyed "it gets wider and wider." He added he has been told by real estate men acquiring property for the State Roads Commission that as many as 400 properties are to be destroyed.

(City Hall sources in commenting on this statement, said that already in South End in connection with the Industrial Boulevard segment of the Thruway, the Potomac Edison Company and C&P Telephone Company plans construction of new facilities worth approximately $500,000, considerably more than the value of the property to be taken for the Thruway.)

John J. Mitchell, 118 Winton Place, said council should consider what revenue the Thruway will bring into the city and what it is taking out. He said it is up to the Mayor and Council "to get some money into this town."

And he said instead of talking about the city providing services to residences at every meeting "Why not tell them they have to pay for these services."

Council Defeats Order For Stenographer Position

A tie vote, unusual in Mayor and Council transactions, defeated an order for an appointment during Council's regular session yesterday.

The order which lost because of the 2-2 vote was for appointment of Miss Betty L. Burns as a temporary junior stenographer in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves. Her salary would have been $212 a month.

The tie vote came about when Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan was unable to attend because of illness.

The order, motioned by Commissioner William J. Edwards, was seconded by Mayor Eves who asked if he could so do legally. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said in his opinion if the Mayor can vote on an order he can second an order. Eves said such had been the case in past administrations.

Eves and Edwards voted for the appointment but Commissioners

William H. Buchholtz and John J. Long said "No." Long said his vote is consistent with past decisions and he added the city should curtail expenses and save where possible. He added he had not voted for an additional employee for the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Eves said the appointment was not an addition. Miss Burns, he said, would have taken the job of the same, he continued. Mrs. Ruth M. Morgan who is on a year's leave of absence and Rule 22, Chapter 20 of rules and regulations governing the Mayor ready to return the job would be and Council.

City Council Approves Sewage Fees

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved an ordinance for sewage treatment fees amounting to 75 per cent of the minimum water rate.

The vote was 4-0. Commissioner William V. Keegan was absent because of illness but had voted for the ordinance when it was sent to its first reading last week.

Since the minimum water rate is $5.13 after discount for the first 2,000 cubic feet of water, the sewage treatment fee will be $3.85. That will bring the net minimum water-sewage bill, the amount actually discharged into the system.

Eugene Martin, 25 Wempe Drive, asked clarification of the purpose of the plant. He said the city had said that domestic sewage treatment still to be determined by the amount of the plant for Pittsburgh Plate water used in production and the Glass Company and also asked amount actually discharged into the status of Ridgeley in the sanitary system. Operation, change of its sewage.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said Ridgeley's sewage will not go through the Cumberland plant. Plants will be responsible for and will continue to be discharged into the river.

School Group Lists Meeting Dates

Mrs. John Oglebay has been elected chairman of the Parent-Child Study Group of Centre Street School, and Mrs. Catherine Kilroy, recorder.

Plans for meetings were formulated at a recent organizational session, and it was decided to hold them on Tuesday evenings, beginning November 5 and continuing through December 10. All meetings will be held at the school, between 7:30 and 9 p.m.

The name of the leader for the Centre Street unit discussions, who will come from the University of Maryland, has not been announced by the Board of Education, Mrs. Oglebay said.

The Malay people consider it extremely bad taste to betray emotions, such as laughter. Conversely, Samoans love to laugh—even at very sad movies. The Samoans recognize sorrow only when it is real.

Fire Victims Make Appeal For Furniture

Red Cross Seeks Contributions

MIDLAND — An appeal has been made here by Mrs. Ed Smith, Midland Branch Red Cross chairman, for donations of household furnishings, bedding, stoves, clothing etc., for the Gallagher family who lost all their personal possessions in a fire a week ago.

Mrs. Catherine Gallagher, a widow, and her two daughters are living temporarily with relatives at Gilmore. However, Mrs. Smith explains that a house is available for them as soon as furniture and the necessary household utensils can be obtained.

The daughters, 14 and 20 years of age respectively, lost all their clothing as well as bedding and other personal possessions. Mrs. Smith said in her appeal for donations.

All types of furniture, window blinds, curtains, dishes, clothing, cooking and kitchen utensils, stoves, and anything and everything needed in a home are needed by this family. They had no insurance and the fire destroyed all their possessions, she said.

Mrs. Gallagher was a patient in Miners Hospital suffering from shock for several days after the fire, but she has recovered and has been discharged from the hospital. Mrs. Smith noted. She explained that the appeal for assistance had been delayed until Mrs. Gallagher was released from the hospital.

Any person who has any item of furniture, bedding or clothing, which they will donate to this family, should call Mrs. Smith at the Red Cross branch number in Midland, HO 3-3784.

Clarence Simms

have the injured infant. She also testified that she had heard her brother make threats before that "he would get a gun and shoot the baby through the heart."
Trooper Charles C. Oliver of the West Virginia State Police testified that he arrived at the Simms home on call, accompanied by City Patrolman Raymond Dawson. They found Simms lying across a bed with an empty disinfectant bottle in his hand and a butcher knife, which he exhibited, lying on a dresser.
He further testified that he took a statement from Simms at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland. He said Patrolman Dawson and Miss Ennis Simms took the baby to the Keyser Hospital.
Testifying in his own defense,

Simms did not deny killing his infant daughter, and made no attempt to refute much of the prosecution's testimony. He said he had been drinking and did not remember stabbing the baby. He told the jury, "If they say so, it must be so."
Simms said that after he quit work at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant near Cumberland, he had been drinking with some companions. He said he returned to Keyser and a friend, Gerald Musgrove drove him to the home of his wife's parents, where his wife had been staying, after she had left him the previous Monday. He recalled that his wife was not there and he did not get the baby. However, he went to the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, an aunt, where his wife was and asked her to return home and live with him. He told the jury his wife refused.

He then returned to the Washington home and asked for the baby. The request was refused, he said, and after that he testified that "he blacked out" and could remember nothing more of the day's events, except that he recalls hearing the baby crying.
He said he does not remember stabbing the little girl, but remembers removing the knife from her abdomen and also taking the poison. He told the jury he does not remember making threats to his wife or baby, but if "my wife says so, it is so."
Musgrove was the only other defense witness. He confirmed the trip to the Washington home and said Simms did not appear to be drunk.
Offers Statement
Attorney Hoff presented in evidence a statement which he took from the defendant in the presence of Marlin Biggs, a deputy sheriff at the time. Simms said the statement was correct as he gave it.
The defense attorneys deferred an opening statement at the beginning of the trial, saying they would make their statement after the state had presented its evidence and testimony. In the statement finally made to the jury, Mr. Shores said that the defendant was "beastly intoxicated" and "must have been insane at the time."
The case has attracted considerable attention and the Keyser court room was crowded during the proceedings. Thirty-five prospective jurors were called before a panel of five women and seven men was seated. This is the first time women have served on a jury in Mineral County.

Contributing Charge Upheld In Court Here

Many Appeals Are Handled

The conviction of Robert James Moss, 70, of 304 North Centre Street, on charges of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls, 11 and 15 years old, was upheld yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegheny County Circuit Court.
Moss, who was represented by court-appointed attorney Louis A. Patkin of Westernport, appealed his June 26 juvenile court conviction and sentence of 18 months to the Maryland House of Correction.
Judge Harris heard the appeal yesterday in his chambers and deferred sentence on the matter until a case report can be made by David M. Steele, local probation officer.

Wife Jailed
Mrs. Dorothy Moss, wife of the defendant, is serving a six-month sentence in the women's reformatory in the same case. Both were sentenced by Magistrate Fred H. Anderson.
In another appeal heard in Circuit Court yesterday two convictions against John A. Ferrell of Westernport were upheld.

Ferrell had been found guilty and fined $15 and costs on a charge of reckless driving and $25 and costs on a charge of malicious destruction of property by Magistrate Carl W. Shaffer of Westernport on April 4. Judge Harris also found Ferrell guilty on the two counts but suspended the fines. Ferrell also was represented by Mr. Patkin.
Louis Donius, Cumberland, found guilty of petit larceny in Trial Magistrates Court and sentenced to 30 days in Allegheny County Jail by Magistrate Donald W. Mason also was found guilty yesterday by Judge Harris, who heard Donius' appeal. Judge Harris upheld the 30-days jail sentence. Donius had been charged with taking $60 from Robert B. Brant.

Charge Dismissed
The state dismissed charges against George Nelson Reuschel, East Oldtown Road, who had been convicted in Juvenile Court of contributing to the neglect of his three minor children.
Magistrate Fred H. Anderson had suspended a one-year sentence to the Maryland House of Correction and placed Reuschel on probation for two years last June.
Harold Andra Kenney, convicted by Magistrate Shaffer of a motor vehicle violation and fined $50 and costs in Westernport last May, dropped his appeal yesterday.

Judge Harris affirmed the conviction and sentence of Frank Jeremiah Davis Jr., who was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate J. Milton Dick on a motor vehicle violation last April in Cumberland.
In the only jury trial held on an appeal yesterday a Polish Mountain man was found guilty of exceeding 50 miles an hour in his car June 1.
Carlson Lee Fletcher had appealed a conviction in Trial Magistrates Court. Judge Harris assessed a fine of $25 and costs against Fletcher.
The case was unusual in that Fletcher was arrested in the driveway of his home by State Trooper John Switzer after he had been chased along U. S. Route 40 at speeds estimated at 70 to 80 miles per hour.
The officer testified he chased Fletcher after the latter's car passed him at a high rate of speed. He said he lost sight of the car on a curve but noticed a machine of the same color in the Fletcher driveway and a cloud of dust at the intersection of the highway and the driveway.
Fletcher also was identified as the driver of the speeding car by a gasoline service station operator.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Fletcher, told the jury his client faced loss of his job if convicted and several witnesses for the defendant, including his mother, testified Fletcher had been in his driveway for about 10 minutes before he was arrested.

Hyndman Nearly Normal
Lloyd G. Keller, supervising principal of the Hyndman-Londerry schools, yesterday reported that 35 students absent. This is 8.3 per cent of the joint school enrollment, Keller pointed out, adding that attendance normally runs about 96 per cent.

The closing of the Hyndman area schools last week was credited for the good attendance yesterday, Keller stated. Most of the absentees were "stragglers," the principal explained, who caught the flu-type illness after the classes were discontinued last week. Before closing absenteeism ran more than half the attendance, Keller pointed out.

Attendance at the local parochial schools was also approaching normal, with most of the absentees being in the lower grades. Mt. Savage reported 123 absentees yesterday, well above normal but much less than when the virus was at its peak. The total included 48 absent from the top six grades and 75 in the lower half.

Court Probates Three Wills

Three wills were probated in recent sessions of Allegheny County Orphans Court.
One was the will of Mrs. Anna B. Wagner, 71, who lived at 137 Maple Street at the time of her death October 12. She named her niece, Mrs. Lucille F. Creagan Warner, RFD 2, York, Pa., executrix of her estate.
She bequeathed $100 to St. Luke's Lutheran Church and left the rest of her estate to brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews.

Also probated was the will of Simon K. Arnold, who died September 17. His sister, Miss Frances E. Arnold, of Barton, qualified as executrix of the estate. He left the estate equally to two sisters, Mary L. Arnold and Frances E. Arnold. The will was dated May 3, 1944.
The will of Karl E. Fletteman, who lived at 502 Montreal Avenue at the time of his death October 14, left his entire estate to his wife, Mrs. Anna R. Fletteman, who also qualified as executrix of the estate.

Another Great Tradition Falls

No American tradition is stronger than the primacy of pie among American desserts. Now, if the results of a nationwide study of eating habits are to be believed, the tradition has become a myth.

Cake and cookies are rated first in popularity, with fruit second and pie third, just ahead of puddings and ice cream. It is not hard to understand why this should be so. Cake can be kept fresh and palatable for a long time and cookies, popped into the oven, quickly regain crispness. But few things are as unappetizing as day-old pie. Warming it over never makes it taste as it did when it first came from the oven.

The low rating for puddings and ice cream is not surprising, either. The quality of ice cream has definitely deteriorated over the years under the impact of inflation. American cooks do not seem to have a flair for puddings. Even after the inclusion of the many eggs and much milk which most pudding recipes call for, the result is likely to be a gooey mess that is either too sweet or not sweet enough.

The survey's finding about cake is confirmed by such collateral information as the growing popularity of ready mixes, which have helped revive women's interest in home baking. And right here is the place to point out the need for an important reform. Bakers, amateur as well as professional, are much too niggardly with filling and icing. The chocolate and whipped cream are too often applied with an over-sparing hand.

Let 'em make the icing thicker and cake will achieve even greater popularity.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Middle East

The battleground of this period in the war between the Soviet Universal State and the NATO group of nations is called the Middle East, an area which is described definitely in the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1957 as follows:

"For the purposes of this section, the term 'general area of the Middle East' means the area between and including (1) Libya on the west, (2) Turkey on the north, (3) Pakistan on the east, and (4) Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia on the south."

This is very broad and ungeographical but it serves to focus attention on the effort of Soviet Russia to surround, to isolate, and eventually to overcome Turkey, our best and perhaps only true ally in that part of the world. The Turkish government has given circulation to a map showing the situation of Turkey in 1941. The Nazis were in the Balkans and all southern Russia. Hitler had attempted to encircle Turkey by establishing a Nazi satellite government in Syria. That would have completed the circle and against that Turkey held out.

Today Turkey is faced by the same kind of encirclement. Although Greece and Turkey should be in alliance, Greece has been stirred up against Turkey over Cyprus which in the circumstances of the world today has become a snare and a nuisance. Bulgaria is a Russian satellite. Soviet Russia lies opposite Turkey on the Black Sea and Syria has now become a Soviet satellite. Turkey is surrounded by enemies and there can be little question but that Soviet Russia plans the reduction of Turkey to the status of Egypt, namely, that of a country whose independence depends upon Soviet good-will. Just as Nasser would like to get out of the trap which he forged for himself, so Turkey prefers not to have anything at all to do with Soviet Russia.

The question then arises what we, Turkey's principal ally and defender, are willing to do. We cannot say of Turkey, as we may of other allies, that the Turks did not come to our aid when needed. The Turks fought in Korea, by our side, with all that this small country was able to give. The Turks have been loyal to us. Are we going to be loyal to the Turks?

This could mean a general war. A very intelligent man once raised this question: Soviet Russia is a great distance ahead of us in the development of guided missiles and other non-conventional instruments of war. Is not this the right moment for the Russians to produce a sudden attack upon us, one that is so swift and damaging that retaliation becomes trivial in comparison with the damage done here?

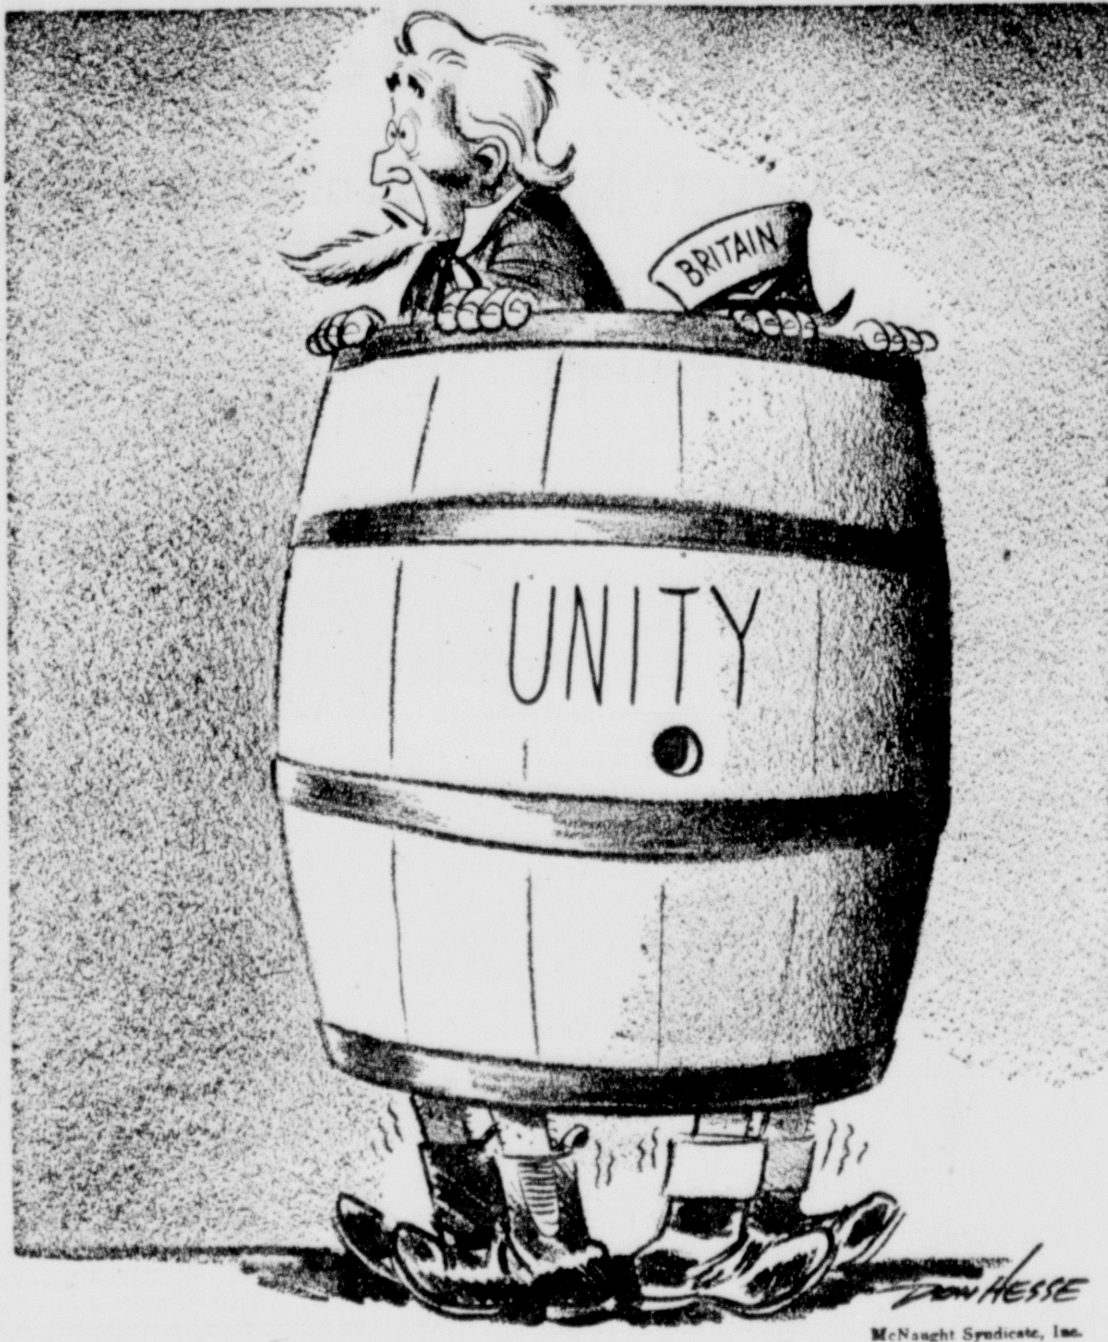

To this I replied, "No!" There is a pattern to Soviet conduct which has been constant and orthodox. This pattern would indicate that Soviet Russia does not destroy any of the physical equipment of the countries that she conquers. There is less an ambition to overthrow than to absorb. To a materialistic Marxist it is ridiculous to burn down a church; it makes more sense to use it as a stable or as a club for young people. What would be the advantage, the materialistic advantage, of destroying Detroit or Pittsburgh when both cities are so useful in the production of goods and equipment? It would seem to me that the Russian program, particularly as devised by the humorist Khrushchev, would be:

1. To scare the countries of Western Europe and of the Mediterranean into rejecting American friendship as too expensive;
2. To create distrust of the American Government within the United States;
3. To use Sputniks like neon signs to establish Russia's superiority in fields that used to be America's specialty;
4. To keep the Middle East in constant disorder;
5. To weaken our economy by keeping us permanently on a war basis;
6. To pour billions into our Stock Exchange operations through Zurich, Amsterdam and London, to keep the stock-market fluctuating like a roller-coaster.

If war comes, it will be accidental, but the above are the jobs that Soviet Russia expects will win the ultimate victory of reducing the West to a secondary position. If the United States is isolated without a fighting war, Soviet Russia has achieved its objective.

When Russia Scares The Pants Off Us

President Can Do Little To Help His Party

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's decision to take the stump in defense of his Administration is a concession to the "for-goodness-sake-do-something" school of thought. The decision is based on the theory that a half dozen speeches by the President in different parts of the country will boost the nation's morale and take its mind off the irritations, fears and misgivings arising out of the political and economic situation as well as the American dilemma in "outer space."

A President's leadership can be constructively helpful, provided it is persuasive and is based on sound policies. But there is very little that can be done when economic ills befall a country—the doom of an incumbent political party is foreshadowed anyway by the business trend. For the American voter still is influenced by his pocketbook irrespective of party affiliation.

If the elections were held today, the Republicans would elect less than 100 members of the House—almost as low a number as they had after the 1932 election, when Franklin Roosevelt won his first term. As things look now, it is likely that the Republicans will lose many seats in the Senate in the 1958 elections, and that the Democratic majority in both Houses will be the biggest in recent years. Thus, the Republican rural vote in such border states as Maryland, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Missouri and West Virginia has been alienated by the controversy over the use of troops in Arkansas. The Negro vote in the Democratic column.

It is, indeed, a political crisis of serious proportions that is causing the President, in the midst of some of the most pressing-problems on the national as well as international front, to take time out to go to the country.

While Mr. Eisenhower cannot be a candidate for another term because of the Constitutional limitation, he nevertheless has been rightly persuaded that he must do something to bolster the Republican Party's failing cause. The 1960 Presidential campaign will be fought on the Eisenhower record no matter who is the nominee of the party. The people will vote for or against the eight years of Eisenhower policies.

The 1958 Congressional election is bound to introduce a new flock of Presidential candidates, and it seems to be in the cards for some governor to be the Democratic nominee next time. Governor Meyner of New Jersey, Democrat, for instance, is being talked about considerably in political circles as a possible Presidential candidate. He is expected to win in a big way next month in New Jersey, and this will boost his chances for 1960's Presidential nomination.

Highly placed Democrats are arguing whether Adlai Stevenson can make it again. Opinions vary from those who think his two defeats would militate against him to those who insist he is still the best vote-getter in the party. Vice President Nixon is still out in front for the Republican nomination.

Why All The Hysteria Over Asian Flu?

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

This is the time for everyone to remain cool and to think clearly about the Asian flu situation. Rumors have been running wild and hysteria will mount as the blow by blow descriptions appear and the number of victims increases.

Even if the epidemic materializes, it will not be comparable to the pandemic of 1918-19. Asian flu is relatively mild. The deaths that have occurred were due to pneumonia, which arises as a secondary infection. This is the same complication that occurred in 1918 but the death rate is low because we have penicillin and other antibiotics to fight the disease.

The chances are that every respiratory infection that develops between now and next April will be tagged Asian flu. But we can bet our last dollar that the streptococcus and ordinary viruses A and B will not remain idle this winter. There is some talk that influenza virus B may go on a rampage, and if so, there will be a mad scramble for the older flu vaccine.

Why all the fuss about Asian flu? For one thing, it is news. A second factor is that most Americans are mystified by the Orient and have an inherent dread of diseases from that part of the globe. Third, many of our industrial heads foresee considerable absenteeism among their workers. Our defense chiefs are thinking along the same lines because a widespread epidemic among our military personnel could endanger our security.

Victims of Asian flu have been counted by the millions but the accuracy of statistics from out of the way places is open to question. Nevertheless, these early reports indicate that those who have been crying wolf, wolf for 20 years will be right this time. In 1938-39 and in 1946 pandemics were predicted but failed to occur. A few years ago Virus X was the big bad wolf but there was no world-wide epidemic.

The Asian flu vaccine offers the only hope of protection but let's not become upset or impatient if we can't get it. The flu won't kill you but it might make your business a little shaky.

TOMORROW: Dispirited old people.

FLU VACCINE

R. M. writes: Is there any danger that a person could develop a severe reaction to the new flu vaccine?

REPLY
This possibility exists, especially in persons who are hypersensitive to egg products. Eggs are used in the preparation of flu vaccines and they contain traces of chick embryo material. Mild reactions such as fever and aching may occur from other materials in the vaccine but these symptoms are controlled easily with aspirin.

Ike's 'Team' Lacked Teamwork In Developing Earth Satellite

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This column recently disclosed that the Army has six satellites in a warehouse at the Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., which it believes could have been launched well ahead of the Russian sputnik. They have been gathering cobwebs for six months. Three months ago the Budget Bureau, operating directly under the White House, actually sent auditors to Huntsville to make sure not one penny was spent by the Army on satellites.

This column also revealed that the original 1954 satellite program, "Operation Orbiter," which used the Navy, the Army, and the Air Force, all working as a team, had been switched in July 1955 to "Operation Vanguard" and put solely under the Navy.

The Navy has an excellent man, John P. Hagen, in charge of this operation. But the Navy was the least experienced branch of the armed services to be given exclusive control of the satellite because the chief problem is boosting the satellite into outer space. This requires a missile or rocket of tremendous power, and the Army and Air Force have been well ahead in developing such a missile.

In fact, it was not until last week that the first stage of the missile for "Operation Vanguard" was finally got off the ground at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Why The Inefficiency?

The question which the American public is entitled to ask the Eisenhower administration, therefore, is — why the switching from different branches of the armed services? Why the inefficiency? Why the tragic delay which cost us untold loss of prestige throughout the world and definitely contributed to the toughening of Russian policy in the Near East?

Because of rigid censorship by the Eisenhower administration these answers are hard to get. But the No. 1 answer is lack of direction at the top.

Under Roosevelt the atomic bomb or "Manhattan Project" was placed under the direction of one man, Gen. Leslie Groves of the Army, now with Remington-Rand. Groves was not a scientist, but he was an administrator. He was responsible directly to the commander-in-chief, Franklin Roosevelt. All the scientists worked under him. He placed Dr. Robert Oppenheimer directly in charge of building the bomb at Los Alamos.

Since then the Eisenhower administration has banished Oppenheimer from government work and lost the benefit of his talented brain. Other scientists, such as Dr. Edward Condon, former head of the Bureau of Standards, have also been intimidated or banished.

Under the much-publicized Eisenhower "team" there has been little actual teamwork. Each branch of the armed services competed against the other. Each went before Congress to demand more money, materials, and manpower. The present commander-in-chief who so emphasized team-play actually had no team-play. Though he spent his life in the military he did not act as commander over his own military.

That was the primary reason why our world leadership in science evaporated.

Business Bickering

Another reason was big business competition to get in on government contracts. This was highlighted by Col. John Nickerson, who charged that General Motors, Bell Telephone, and Douglas Aircraft — the first two companies once close to the Secretary of Defense and the Undersecretary of Defense — had pulled wires to put the intermediate range ballistic missile exclusively with the Air Force because the Army was working with Chrysler. The Nickerson courtmartial was hushed up before it could explore these charges, but it is a fact that General Motors, Bell Telephone, and Douglas developed the Air Force's Thor. And it is also a fact that the Army's Jupiter got into the air ahead of the Thor, yet Wilson wanted to shut down the Army's work altogether.

This may be one explanation of why the Budget Bureau sent auditors to Huntsville to stop all satellite work and why the six satellites were never launched. The Budget Bureau knew the Army was chafing under Wilson's order and presumably wanted to make sure some rebellious Army officer, perhaps another Colonel Nickerson, didn't jump the gun and launch a satellite as a publicity stunt.

If he had, American prestige in the world today would have been much better off.

In addition there was another factor which may have contributed to inefficiency and which will be discussed at a future column.

Atomic Competition

During their recent trip to Russia, members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee visited the Dubna high energy laboratory where the world's largest synchrotron is installed, with a capacity of 10 billion electron volts.

Seated at lunch beside the director of the laboratory, Sen. Albert Gore (D., Tenn.) was asked how American scientists got their money for research projects.

"Well," replied Gore, "the President presents a request for funds to Congress, and then the House and the Senate vote. After that there's a compromise and finally the President approves the total amount."

"That's not exactly what I meant," said the Russian. "How do your scientists submit their requests?"

"Oh," said Gore, "they make an initial request and then it's reflected in the President's recommendation to Congress. By the way, how do you Russian scientists get your funds for research?"

The Russian ignored the question.

"You know," he continued, "I've been told by some of your American scientists that the way they get their money is to say, 'The Russians have a 630-megavolt cyclotron, and we need a bigger one.' Or, 'The Russians have a 5,000-KW reactor, and we need a bigger one.' Is that true?"

"Just a minute," interrupted Rep. Mel Price (D., Ill.). "Senator, you asked the gentleman how Russian scientists get their money for research, and he hasn't answered you yet."

"Same way," declared the Russian.

Anastasia's Order

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(INS)—Collectors of lint, string and small details about big stories are divided on just what Anastasia ordered when he sat down in that barber chair last Friday morning.

According to one source, he said to the barber "Give me the works." Two guys in masks beat the barber to it. Another source insists the thug said, "I'll have a close shave, please," and later added, "not that close."

A terrible end for any living thing, of course. But there must have been dozens of chuckles from the dusty graves of his bygone victims and perhaps a last triumphant bubble from a barrel of cement in the East River.

On the theory, one supposes, that possession of the only wheel in town constitutes a license to steal, a local TV station will attempt to make up for the loss of the Giants and Dodgers by televising 78 games of the Phillies.

Another station may show Cincinnati's games here. One would think that if National League baseball must be sent into New York — something like CARE packages — the biggest audience could be reached by sending in San Francisco Giants games and Los Angeles Dodgers games. Or, if that's too costly, games involving the world champion Milwaukee Braves, whose players are now abundantly well-known here and everywhere else.

Incidentally, a San Franciscan friend predicts that Los Angeles will not take to the Dodgers.

"They're not daffy enough for southern California," he observed coolly.

Nye Bevan, on Chet Huntley's "Outlook" Sunday, said:

"I think the U. S. is continuing this 'non-recognition' attitude toward China because the Administration feels it is too difficult to challenge certain sections of public opinion in America." He added, in effect:

"You will not recognize China because, you say, its troops killed GIs in Korea. The Germans kill ed your GIs and British boys and yet you have built up Germany to a great power again, and insisted that we help. Where is consistency in this?"

Simple. The Chinese Reds still hold American boys in prison. Gen. Van Fleet has placed this number at as high as 300. Capt. Eugene Guild, head of a Colorado organization named "Fighting Homefolks of Fighting Men," would make it a bigger figure. One member of that organization has a suit pending against President Eisenhower for "abandoning" these men. For more than two years, a Red Chinese diplomat and U. S. Ambassador Alexis Johnson have been meeting in Geneva—fruitlessly—in our continuing efforts to liberate the men.

News item: Disk jockey picked up in Atlantic. Ran out of gas.

First one ever did.

Incidentally, it cost the Coast Guard $300,000 to find the D. J. who tried to reach Bermuda in an outboard motor boat as a gag.

That's an insult to money.

People here are unduly angry at the French for slapping a 20 per cent tax on all imported raw materials. We owe a lot to the French—especially people who have stayed at the Ritz and eaten at the Tour d'Argent. Then there was Lafayette.

And besides, where else could you find a people who could build a racetrack like Chantilly? Its mutual windows are graduated through the various stages of bets, as ours are. There is a window marked 100 fr., 2,000 fr., and finally one marked 10,000 fr. And under the 10,000 fr. sign is a neat little sign which reads: "English spoken."

Where's Zhukov? He's that object which is finishing out of the money, just behind Sputnik, the third stage of the rocket and the gizmo that squeezed out Sputnik.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Queen Elizabeth was thrilled by that big ticker tape shower in New York. And the way the stock market has been going lately, it was like throwing money in the street.

The U. S. and Britain are the closest they've been since World War II. So close they're under the shadow of the same sputnik.

A Toledo judge says he thinks television is making juries "soft" on criminals. Maybe the juries are taking pity because the culprits went to all that trouble for something that doesn't pay.

DeMarco And Akins Fight For Welterweight Crown

Winner Gets Recognition In Bay State

Contest In Boston Tonight Supported By Illinois Group

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Tough Tony DeMarco, former welterweight titlist now rated the top contender, and ranking veteran Virgil Akins clash in a 15-round bout tomorrow night for the Massachusetts version of the world's championship.

The 25-year-old DeMarco, with a record of 31 knockouts in 64 pro outings, rules a 10-8 favorite over Akins in the Boston Garden bout which will not be telecast or broadcast.

Neither battler is disturbed that the fight carries championship recognition in Massachusetts only. Each feels a victory will place him in an envious position when a showdown comes for world's recognition.

Get Illinois Support

Illinois Commissioner Louis R. Radzienda has announced his "support" of the Massachusetts commission in declaring the bout for the title. But the National Boxing Assn., the New York State Athletic Commission and the World Championship Boxing Committee have refused to go along.

The NBA, New York commission and the world committee are working to set up an elimination tournament for the championship vacated by Carmen Basilio's advance to the middleweight title last month.

Although the bout is scheduled for the championship distance of 15 rounds, most observers don't think it will go that far.

DeMarco is regarded by many as the hardest hitter in the 147-pound division, while the 29-year-old Akins also is noted as a stiff puncher. Each is hopeful of scoring an early knockout.

DeMarco, who lost the title to Basilio after a reign of just 70 days two years ago, has won three easy 10-round decisions from Gaspar Ortega, Larry Boardman and Walter Byars in his only starts this year.

Since outpointing Byars in the Garden last May, he has spent his time in training while awaiting the outcome of Basilio's bout with Sugar Ray Robinson.

Akins Busy Fighter

Akins, a busy fighter from St. Louis, posted some impressive triumphs before being upset by Gil Turner in his last bout. That loss dropped Akins to No. 5 and 6 in the NBA and Ring Magazine ratings, respectively.

DeMarco has a record of 54-9-1 has been stopped four times, twice by Basilio in title bouts. Akins has a 45-15-1 record, with 24 knockouts. He has been stopped only twice.

Terps Lose Fred Cole

Shoulder Injury Puts Tackle Out

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 28 (AP)—A sad and weary Maryland football team, smothered 16-0 by the Southeastern Conference champs of Tennessee last weekend, turned out today to prep for this week's encounter with South Carolina.

Coach Tommy Mont had the first two teams in sweat suits to set up offense and defense for tomorrow's scrimmage. The game against the Gamecocks at Columbia, S. C., Saturday will be inside the Atlantic Coast Conference, where Maryland ranks a respectable third with two victories and two defeats.

Mont learned today that one of his linemen, starting right tackle Fred Cole, will be out for the season because of a bone separation in his shoulder, suffered in the Tennessee game. The Newark, N. J., junior will be replaced by left tackle Don Healy, Rome, N. Y., senior. Sophomore Curt Schwarz of Hackensack, N. J., will move up into Healy's old spot on the other side.

Baker Is Named Player Of Week

Furman's Whiz Kid Set Four Records

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28 (AP)—Billy Baker, Furman's whiz kid quarterback who set four modern single-game Southern Conference records with his brilliant passing against The Citadel Saturday night, today was named the league's football player of the week.

Just a sophomore and only 19 years old, Baker wiped out the existing records for most passes completed, most yards passing and most yards total offense as the Purple Hurricane bowed to the Bulldogs 18-14 and fell from the ranks of the unbeaten in league play.

Taking to the air 40 times, nine more than Davidson's Dick Belton did against Furman in 1955 and George Washington's Ray Fox did against West Virginia in 1953. Baker found his mark on 28 occasions, 13 more than VMI's Dave Woolwine did against Florida State in 1954 and William and Mary's Bob Hardage did against Army last year.

The completions were good for a robust 292 yards, topping by 84 Belton's record for most yards, set in 1955 against Washington and Lee. Baker's total eclipsed the total offense record, established by W&L's Joe Lindsey against Virginia in 1953, by 83 yards.

Dodgers Feted By Los Angeles

1,000 Fans Attend Civic Luncheon

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28 (AP)—Los Angeles borrowed a touch of Hollywood glamor today to roar a welcome to the recently transplanted Dodgers of Brooklyn.

More than 1,000 fans attended a civic luncheon to honor Dodger President Walter O'Malley and his players, known now as the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Former umpire Beans Rearden set the tone for the affair when he yelled: "Play ball."

Guests at the head table immediately picked up rubber baseballs and tossed them at the audience. There was a wild scrambling for the mementos, and during the rest of the luncheon guests asked the baseball stars and officials to sign them.

Comedian Joe E. Brown, Hollywood's No. 1 baseball fan, was master of ceremonies. But he had to share laughs with Dodger President O'Malley, Manager Walter Alston and Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees.

The fans gave their biggest ovation to O'Malley, who quipped: "I hope the next time you will be asked to stand up will be for Duke Snider's first home run in Los Angeles."

"The queenly pear" comes from the sea and is the only one produced by a living process. M's

The rawboned, crewcut Milwaukee Braves hurler was presented an outboard cabin cruiser, a plaque hailing him as an example to youth, and an Indian war battle.

Before he was rushed by whooping youngsters who brandished baseball-shaped "Lew Burdette Club" badges for him to sign, Burdette told the crowd:

"I'm very excited. It was so wonderful for you to do all these things for me and my family. We're so happy we picked Sarasota for our home. We hope we'll be here a long time."

Fans presented pretty Mrs. Burdette a bouquet of roses. Burdette's son, Lew Kent Burdette, six, got a fishing rod and the pitcher's three-year-old daughter, Midgie, received a bride doll about her own size.

Burdette's plaque from the boys and girls of Sarasota said "your skill, fortitude and stamina will be an inspiration to the youth of America for years to come."

The three-game winner in the series with the New York Yankees lost no time trying out the presentation boat. With Mrs. Burdette, little Lew and two boat company representatives aboard, he gunned the sleek little craft out into Sarasota Bay and back without a hitch.

Ronald Anderson Wins Old Export $100 Grid Prize

Ronald Anderson, 302 Pennsylvania Avenue, is the winner of the $100 cash prize offered by the Cumberland Brewing Company in the Old Export Football Game-Of-The-Week Contest for guessing the correct score in the Tennessee-Maryland game last Saturday at College Park.

Anderson's ballot had Tennessee defeating Maryland by the score of 16-6 to become the fourth winner of the season.

A record-breaking total of 9,000 entries were judged in last week's contest.

Eighteen ballots were voided because the entries were from outside of Allegany and Garrett counties.

Maryland and South Carolina are the principals in this week's score guessing contest for the $100 cash award.

Warren Spahn, Dick Donovan Best Routers

Bob Friend Hurled 17 Complete Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox and Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, a pair of pitchers who like to finish what they start, boasted the best complete game averages in the majors in 1947.

The 29-year-old Donovan completed 16 games out of 28 starts for a .571 percentage, tops in the American League. Spahn went the route 18 times in 35 starts. The stylish southpaw was the National League leader with a .514 mark.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press also disclosed today that Spahn's 18 complete games were high in the majors. Pittsburgh's Bob Friend was runner-up with 17. Donovan, teammate Billy Pierce and the Giants' Ruben Gomez had 16 route-going jobs each.

Donovan, a husky righthander, posted a 16-6 won-lost record and hurled two shutouts. The 36-year-old Spahn won 21 games—including four shutouts—and lost 11 as he aided the Braves' pennant drive with clutch mound performances. It was the eighth time that Spahn had won 20 or more games in his big league career.

Fullback Thomas Finan smashed over from the two-yard line in the opening period for the game's only score to give Coach Don Harden's LaSalle High junior varsity football team a 6-0 victory over Ridgeley High School's Jayvees yesterday at Ridgeley.

LaSalle put the game on ice early by taking the opening kickoff and marching 40 yards for the score.

Ridgeley threatened in the final period but was stopped on the LaSalle 12.

The losers failed to mark up a first down and were limited to 59 net yards rushing. LaSalle intercepted three of Ridgeley's eight passes. Coach Harden's eleven gained 141 net yards on the ground.

Rooters Are Fined In Baltimore Fight

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Green Bay Packers beat the Baltimore Colts yesterday 24-21 on the football field, but it was a draw today between their fighting rooters.

Three Packer rooters from Milwaukee stationed at Army posts in Virginia were the object of an assault by disgruntled Colt fans, according to testimony in police court.

Lt. John R. Bayer, 221 of Fort Eustis, Va., said he was leaving the Memorial Stadium waving a Green Bay pennant when "with-out warning I was tackled and it felt like 15 people were hitting me at once."

Lt. John R. Bayer, 22, of Fort Pte. Charles P. Kellier, 20, came to Bayer's assistance.

The police arrested the three soldiers and four civilians.

The lieutenants and four civilians were fined $25 each. But the private didn't show up for the hearing and forfeited $52 bail.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28 (INS)—Can't blame Ben Bogue for giving himself a little pat on the back for having bought Jules Verne's "From the Earth To the Moon" long before Sputnik ever "spat" or the whole world became outer space crazy. Because of the widespread interest, Bogue is activating his story with (he hopes) Errol Flynn in the lead, in the next six weeks.

With Verne's uncanny flair for prediction he wrote "Around the World in 80 Days" and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" he told in "From the Earth To the Moon" of a rocket aimed at the moon which missed the planet but became a visible satellite in the heavens.

Technical advice is in the hands of scientists at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., and also the British Astronomical Society.

Barbara Rush tells me she'll be in far off India when the Christmas holidays roll around making "Harry Black" with Stewart Granger and Tony Steele. "It's the first time I've been away from home at Christmas time and I'm going to miss my friends and Christmas tree and everything."

Between now and then she'll be so busy she won't have time to miss anything. On completion of "The Young Lions" at 20th the first week in November, Barbara goes into rehearsals for the Playhouse 90 TV show "The Trouble-Makers."

More from LOP: John Farrow leaves for Europe shortly to find a John Paul Jones for his movie of the same title. He goes to Scotland, Rome and England. John came east when his friend, Father Whelan, was decorated by Queen Elizabeth in Washington.

I saw Hal Wallis, Kirk Douglas and Kirk's pretty wife Anne at the Stork Club for midnight supper. Anne said she wanted to kiss the ground of the USA when she arrived in New York. They have been away so long—seven months while Kirk made two films in Europe.

"Seems to me that Kirk is too thin and needs more good American food. He won't be able to return to Hollywood with Anne and the baby because he has to return to Europe to cut "The Vikings."

"Jim Farley and his daughter, Mrs. Montgomery, were also at the Stork as were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vaudable—he owns Maxims in Paris.

Hollywood in shorts:

The reconciliation attempt in London between Dianna Foster and her writer-husband, Joel Murcott, didn't take. Dianna is back in Hollywood with the twins while Murcott remains in Europe. But she is happy about her English picture, "Gideon's Day," for John Ford.

Dorothy Malone is the new beauty multi-millionaire Frank Ryan has discovered. They were interested in one another dining at La Rue.

Wolfe Gilbert's a happy man. His book, "Without Rhyme or Reason," has gone into its fourth printing.

Princess Margaret attended the party her friend Sharmar Douglas gave in London, a good time being had by the William Holdens, Douglas Fairbanks, Norman Krasna, Tony Owens and Tony Bartlett, among others. They say Margaret's keen desire to visit the USA is even keener since Queen Elizabeth reported on the royal welcome she and Philip had there.

Janet Leigh slipped on the polished floor at the party she and Tony Curtis gave at Chasens welcoming themselves back to Hollywood—and fell on her pretty face. Didn't hurt it.

The decorations were along "The Vikings" (their European movie) lines and the non-Viking guests included Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher, the Dean Martins, Bob Wagner, Natalie Wood, and "stags" Jeff Chandler and Buddy Hackett.

Speaking of parties, Mary Pickford hosted a most sentimental occasion at Pickfair for 60 honoring Mark Larkin, her former press agent, Mickey Neilan, a former director of Pickford hits and Charles Rosher, her best cameraman.

That's all today.

Market Trading Dwindles, Prices Decline Generally

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Trading on the stock market dwindled to a three-week low today as prices slipped generally.

Coppers and other selected issues bucked the trend with moderate gains. The losses among key stocks were mostly within the range of a point or so. Advances were around the same range.

Today's volume of 1,800,000 shares was the lowest since Oct. 4 and compared with 2,400,000 shares on Friday when the market already was beginning to take a rest after last week's huge gyrations.

The copper shares were assisted by reports of a pickup in demand as well as by confident statements regarding the industry outlook by the presidents of the copper producing giants, Anaconda and Kennecott.

Some stocks, such as Ford and Texas Co., were boosted to fair gains by good earnings reports.

The most active stock was Venturines Camaguey Sugar, unchanged at 12 1/2 on 28,400 shares. Second was Bethlehem Steel, off 1/4 at 39 1/2 on 25,900 shares. Third was General Motors, off 1/4 at 38 1/2 on 21,400 shares.

Next came Standard Oil (N.J.), off 1/4 at 53 1/2, and Pennsylvania Railroad off 1/4 at 15 1/4.

Among the missile stocks on the upside was Raytheon, up 1 at 19, and sixth most active stock.

But Martin Co. dropped 1 1/4 despite its announcement of a new version of its Matador guided missile. Bell Aircraft rose 1/4 following the Air Force disclosure that one of the firm's guided missiles had been tested successfully.

W. E. Crooks Takes Charge At Amcelle

New Official Helped Place Plant Into Service In 1924

William E. Crooks has been appointed plant manager of the Celanese Corporation of America textile plant in Cumberland, succeeding R. Finley Thompson who has retired.

With Celanese service dating back nearly 35 years, Mr. Crooks returns to manage a plant which he helped to put into operation in 1924 as the first manufacturing facility of Celanese Corporation of America. He comes to Cumberland from the Rome, Ga., Celanese textile plant, where he has been plant manager for the past 11 years.

Native of England

A native of Ripley, Derbyshire, England, Mr. Crooks was graduated in 1922 from London University with a B. Sc. degree in chemistry. He spent one year with British Celanese, Ltd., then joined Celanese Corporation of America in 1924 in Cumberland. He worked here for four years, in charge of the physical analysis laboratories and in production capacities.

Subsequently, Mr. Crooks spent one year as acetate spinning superintendent in the American Chatillon Corporation plant in Rome, Ga., followed by five years as research director, on acetate and viscose, for the Italian Chatillon Company, Vercelli, Italy.

In 1936, Mr. Crooks returned to Rome and resumed work at the plant there. The Rome facility was operated for a time by the Tubize-Chatillon Corporation. When, in 1946, it was acquired from Tubize Rayon Corporation by Celanese, Mr. Crooks remained on as plant manager.

Active In Red Cross

Mr. Crooks is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Management Association and Society for the Advancement of Management, being also a past president of the latter organization's Georgia Chapter. He had been active in Rome civic affairs, including service as vice chairman of that city's Red Cross chapter.

Mr. Thompson joined Celanese Corporation of America as a chemist in Cumberland in 1927. Between 1942 and 1952, he worked in the company's Narrows, Va., plant, first as superintendent of the cellulose acetate department, then as assistant plant manager. He had been plant manager in Cumberland since 1952.

The local post also will hold its Halloween party on Thursday, beginning at 9:30 p. m. Prizes will be awarded for costumes and everybody is requested to be masked. A local orchestra will play for dancing.

Guy Smith and Paul Moore are co-chairmen of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Halloween affair.

Columbian Carbon Gives Up Leases In This County

Columbian Carbon Company, Charleston, W. Va., apparently has given up its efforts to find deposits of natural gas in the eastern end of Allegany County.

The company has surrendered some 31 oil and natural gas leases covering 19,196 acres of Allegany County land. The surrenders were recorded in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, last week.

Largest of the leases covers 5,607 acres of Green Ridge State Forest, which was leased in late 1954. Most of the leases were entered into in December 1954 and January 1955.

High Water Pumps

Roy F. Maphis, foreman of flood maintenance for the City of Cumberland, stands beside the big pumps of the Ridgeley Pumping Station, one of three needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control program. The controls which will operate the units are at left. The E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, is completing the construction of the Ridgeley and Mill Race pumping stations at a cost of $732,735. The same firm has started work on the third unit at the B & O Viaduct. The pumps will be used only when high water closes flap gates which normally allow flood water to flow into the Potomac River and Wills Creek by gravity. Official tests of the equipment are slated soon.

County Reports More Students Back In School

Flu-Type Illness Appears On Wane

An improvement of nearly 44 per cent in attendance was noted yesterday in Allegany County public schools, Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, reported.

Education officials were pleased with the trend as it appears for the time being that the virus illness which has caused such a heavy degree of absenteeism in area schools is now abating.

Higgins noted that on Friday there were 4,412 pupils absent from county schools as well as 51 teachers. Yesterday's attendance following the week-end period rose over 43 per cent with 2,486 pupils and 48 teachers absent, he stated.

Centre St. Has Increase

All the larger schools in the county, Allegany, Fort Hill, Bruce, Valley and Beall appeared to have slightly more than normal absenteeism. Both Allegany and Fort Hill reported approximately 150 students absent yesterday.

Only Centre Street Elementary School showed an increase in absenteeism with 57 absent yesterday compared to 43 on Friday.

Neighboring Mineral County, where 12 schools were ordered closed last week until this Wednesday also reported decreases in absenteeism in the schools that remained in session.

There were but 26 students off sick in Ridgeley High, while Piedmont reported a 50 per cent gain in attendance over Friday's figure. There were 25 absentees in Piedmont High yesterday, and 26 in the elementary school.

Up At Burlington

One of the few schools that reported an increase in the number of absent pupils was Burlington Elementary, where 62 of the 226 enrollment failed to report for classes on Monday.

Mineral County schools that will remain closed until Wednesday include Beryl, Elk Garden Elementary and High, Cross Elementary, Fort Ashby Elementary and High, Short Gap Elementary, Patterson Creek Elementary, Fountain Elementary, Limestone Elementary and Keyser High and Elementary.

The closing order was made on (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Four Mason Cows Rank Among Top Producers

Four cows belonging to John T. Mason of Cresaptown ranked among the top ten butterfat producers in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association for September with No. 57, a grade Holstein setting the pace with 81 pounds of fat in 1,880 pounds of milk.

Mr. Mason also had the fourth, sixth and eighth ranking butterfat producers, all grade Holsteins. The second highest butterfat producer was Snowdrop, a registered Holstein owned by L. L. Brooke & Sons, Pinto, who had 80 pounds of butterfat in 2,280 pounds of September milk.

Ivan C. Wilson, Midland, was the only other area dairyman with more than one cow on the select list of 11 cows. His Pennut, a grade Guernsey, placed third with 75 pounds of butterfat in 1,376 pounds of milk. His Sadie, a grade Holstein, was in a three-way tie for ninth place with 69 pounds of butterfat in 1,460 pounds of milk.

Four other dairymen had one cow each on the honor roll prepared by Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors. They are Chelsie A. Liller, Cresaptown, whose Red Pet, a cross bred cow, was tied for fourth; Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa., whose Lily, a grade Holstein, ranked seventh; Platt's Dairy, whose Moose, a grade Holstein, Farm, Green Spring, W. Va., was tied for ninth, and Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage, whose Conny, a registered Holstein, also was tied for ninth.

The overall average for 984 cows in 23 herds is 619 pounds of milk, 24.8 per cent butterfat and four per cent butterfat.

Highest herd average for the month was recorded by Lloyd Nave. His cows averaged 1,043 pounds of milk, 40.5 pounds of butterfat and 3.88 per cent butterfat.

1,200 Mines Open Drive On Roof Fall Accidents

More than 60 Maryland coal mining companies are participating in a year-long campaign to reduce roof fall accidents — the No. 1 killer of coal miners.

More than 1,200 mines—including the largest in North America—are enrolled in the campaign which has as its goal a 50 per cent reduction in these accidents which account for more mine deaths than any other cause. Roof fall accidents result when rock or other material falls from mine roof, face and rib.

The campaign, which began July 1, is sponsored jointly by the American Mining Congress, Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the Coal Mining Section of the National Safety Council, the Mine Inspector's Institute of America, National Coal Association, Southern Coal Producers Association, United Mine Workers of America, U. S. Bureau of Mines, state and provincial mining departments, and coal mining publications.

An estimated 80 per cent of the total tonnage of the U. S. mines is represented in the campaign. West Virginia, with more than 400 mines enrolled, leads state enrollment. Pennsylvania and Kentucky are second and third.

To help mines carry on a continuous and effective program, the National Safety Council is making available to participating mines various materials, including a series of 12 posters emphasizing ways to avoid injury from roof falls, and a number of illustrated booklets on ways of preventing falls of roof.

Three National Safety Council awards will be given mines, supervisors and local unions meeting the campaign goal and other requirements.

Dinner Club Event Is Open To Public

The Cumberland National Dinner Club announced last night that tonight's dinner meeting will be open to the public.

The dinner meeting scheduled for 7 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club will feature a talk by Roy Bendall on "The Humanism of Lincoln."

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president, said anyone interested in attending may call B. U. Smith at Central YMCA for dinner reservations.

Routine Action Taken By City

A number of routine actions were taken by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Mayor Roy W. Eyes was authorized to execute a deed to F. Perry Smith Jr., the adjoining property owner, to what was formerly the bed of Trenton Avenue, between Elder and Elizabeth streets, but reserving rights of way for existing water and sewer lines. The street was closed by a February 25 ordinance.

Council approved payments of $40 each to Charles R. and George R. Scarlett to reimburse them for tuition fees for a highway engineering course.

The resignation of Mary Jane Stemple as junior stenographer in the city auditor's office, effective November 1, was accepted.

The request of Lowell E. Tressler for permission to sell Christmas trees on a city-owned lot on North Mechanic Street was referred to the Street Commissioner and Police Department.

A proclamation designating Sunday, November 10, as United States Marine Corps Day was issued.

A report of Mrs. Frank White, Wempe Drive, about bus service in the Mapleside section was referred to City Attorney Thomas B. Finan for investigation.

Water use was normal last week, and Lake Gordon was down three feet, five inches, while Lake Koon was 12 feet, 11 inches below the spillway.

Parking meter revenues for the week ending October 20 was $760.94, up $18.97 from the week before, Council was told.

U. Of Md. Head To Speak Here

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Allegany and Garrett County Alumni Association to night at 6:30 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Dr. J. Russell Cook, president of the alumni group, said Dr. Elkins will be accompanied on his first visit to Cumberland by his wife.

Dr. Cook said Dr. Elkins will be introduced by Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and also a member of the board of regents of the University of Maryland. David L. Brigham, alumni secretary, and Victor Holm, field secretary of the alumni association, also will be here for the meeting.

Following the dinner meeting there will be an election of officers. Dr. Benedict Skitarelic is chairman of the nominating committee and Thomas Hutcheson, Reford Aldridge, Dr. William H. Ryan and Dr. W. D. Timmons are committeemen.

Dr. Cook, who will preside at tonight's meeting, said about 100 persons are expected to attend the dinner.

CUF Victory Dinner Is Set Tonight At 'Y'

$300,000 Level May Be Reached

The officials of the first County United Fund drive anticipate that tonight's victory dinner at 6:30 at Central YMCA will be a "tremendous" success.

Lewis J. Ort, general campaign chairman, said yesterday that from all indications to date, the final total will exceed the $250,000 goal of the campaign.

Mr. Ort said he remembered last October at the victory dinner of the Cumberland Community Chest when he predicted that a united fund would succeed here because "the heart of this area is good." The evidence of the truth of that statement will be borne out tonight, Mr. Ort stated. "Final reports will be made by all divisions and communities in the area covered by CUF and campaign leaders believe that the $300,000 mark will be reached."

At the kickoff dinner on October 8, it was reported that 80 per cent or $200,000 had been pledged. At the first report meeting on October 15, officials reported $232,000. No report was made on the second report meeting which was held last Tuesday at Central YMCA.

Awards will be presented to the leaders of the various divisions who have met their goal or exceeded their goals.

Officials at campaign headquarters said yesterday that the auditors will continue to work today auditing all the reports brought in by the division leaders so an accurate and up to date report can be made at the victory dinner.

Three Members Of Family Hurt

Three members of a Garrett County family were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital here early Sunday morning after sustaining injuries in an automobile accident.

Hospital attendants said last night that Mrs. Gladys Warnick, 36, and her daughters, Wanda, 16, and Leota, 17, were in "good" condition.

Mrs. Warnick, who apparently was driving the car when it skidded off the highway while traveling on New Germany Road, suffered multiple abrasions of the face, a laceration of the face and injuries to her right shoulder.

Miss Leota Warnick sustained contusions and abrasions of the scalp and legs and a laceration of the chin.

Miss Wanda Warnick, apparently the most seriously hurt, suffered a cracked vertebrae near the neck, contusions and abrasions. She was placed in traction at the hospital.

The father and husband, Wilson Warnick, 38, was treated for facial cuts and abrasions at the hospital. He is a district employee of the State Department of Forests and Parks.

The family lives at Big Run in Garrett County State Park.

Butler Says GOP Myths Destroyed

Demo Head Swipes At Ike, Wilson

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 28 (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said tonight the country "is taking some hard second glances at the Eisenhower myths."

Butler said the successful Russian earth satellite and stepped-up Russian pressure in the Middle East and in propaganda warfare "have destroyed two carefully cherished myths of the Eisenhower administration."

He said the myths were:

"The world's greatest military leader is in charge at the White House;

"Charley Wilson was the world's greatest production genius, and thus assured us of superiority in all weapons."

Butler took these swipes at Eisenhower and former Secretary of Defense Wilson in a speech at a Democratic rally.

Butler remarked that Eisenhower may have been a great general but said he has done nothing as President "to indicate that he is necessarily qualified to cope with the military problems of the rocket age any more than General Grant would have been qualified to cope with the military problems of World War II."

But even if Eisenhower did grasp atomic and rocket warfare, Butler said, "he has not been putting full-time on the job and his staff — particularly Sherman Adams — shields him from the day-to-day decisions which are necessary to develop an effective overall defense program."

Butler said Wilson was a production man, and "frankly not interested in research, rockets and all the stuff about space ships and trips to the moon."

County Gets $14,267 In Liquor Tax

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP) — The State of Maryland mailed out today to all but one of its political subdivisions.

The money represents 50 cents for each gallon of distilled spirits delivered to lawful retail dealers. Garrett County received no share because sale of liquor is not licensed there.

The revenue for the first three months of the current fiscal year, July, August and September, totaled $485,894. Comptroller J. Millard Tawes said this represented a 2½ per cent increase over last year's allocation for the corresponding period.

Tawes said 971,788 gallons of liquor was delivered for the three-month period, as compared with 948,121 gallons a year ago.

Baltimore City again received the largest amount, $232,284, an increase of more than 4 per cent over last year. Baltimore County received the second largest amount, $53,937, up 5½ per cent.

Amounts distributed included: Allegany County, $14,267; Charles, $9,063; Frederick, $8,983; Harford, $3,893; Howard, $4,960; Montgomery, $26,478; Prince Georges, $38,919; St. Marys, $7,400; Washington, $13,081.

Many Building Permits Issued Despite Cold

A number of new buildings have been authorized for construction in the past several weeks by the Allegany County assessing department despite the fact that cold weather has arrived, generally a sign of reduced construction activity.

Ten of these permits authorized construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $87,000. They ranged between a high of $15,000 and a low of $3,000.

Robert Davis, RFD 2, Williams Road, obtained a permit to build a four-room 25-by-45 foot brick veneer house in Election District 29, LaVale for $13,500. The 30-by-40 foot building will be constructed with walls of asbestos shingles. Completion is scheduled for next February.

Ridgeley Land Case Goes To Appeals Court

Will Be Heard In Charlotte, N. C.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan was advised yesterday that the government's appeal to a $97,500 jury award for 3.99 acres of land adjoining Ridgeley High School is set for the January term of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

Albert M. Morgan, Fairmont, U. S. attorney for the Northern Division of West Virginia, said the appeal was docketed on October 17 and is set for argument at the January term of the court which opens January 6 in Charlotte, N. C.

Over two years ago, the Government appraised the property, owned by the Board of Education of Mineral County and needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program, at $5,150.

Condemnation proceedings were filed in April 1955 after negotiations for the land acquisition fell through.

The condemnation case went to trial in Martinsburg early in April and a federal jury on April 9 awarded the Board of Education $97,500 for the property.

The government immediately filed a motion to have the award set aside and asked for a new trial.

The government's motion was overruled by the judge who recommended that the appeal be taken.

West Virginia Starts Planning Its Centennial

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 28 (AP) — The West Virginia Centennial Commission made another start today toward gathering ideas on how to celebrate the state's 100th birthday in 1963.

Meeting for only the second time since it was created by the 1955 Legislature, the commission peered just far enough into the subject to glimpse a big and complex job ahead.

Big and complex, that is, if the centennial is to live up to the commission's hope for an observance that will be a major tourist attraction.

To get a better idea of how that sort of thing is accomplished, the commission voted to send a subcommittee to Virginia, where the highly successful Jamestown Festival was staged this year, and to Oklahoma, which is observing its 50th anniversary. The subcommittee will inquire into the mechanics of setting up such observances.

County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman has received permission from the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to purchase a used tractor from Abraham Feldstein for $450 to ge' the parts for use in other tractors now owned by the county.

The supervisor reported to the commissioners that the drainage condition on Miller Road near Barton concerning which Jacob Sutherland made a complaint is not the county's responsibility. He said that the condition is caused by dirt washing off of a dirt road when it rains, blocking a ditch along Miller Road. The responsibility rests with the owners of the dirt road, he said.

Avenue F in Bowling Green, concerning which Mrs. Charles Nave recently complained, is an unopened street and not part of the county roads system, Mr. Chapman disclosed.
